ACID ON SPOUSE

Mrs. Tomoor Then Tried to Take Her Own Life.

FI.BD IN HER NIGHTGOWN

Suddenly Insane, She Belleved She Had Killed Her Babe.

H. F. Tomoor was suddenly awaken at 5 o'clock this morning though his face had been seared fire. Half blinded he leaped from bed. His wife was waving a bottle and shricking. The room was full of the eder of carbolic acid. Tomoor's face was dripping with it. They live on the top floor of 52 East Eighty-first street, and the husband durted downstairs to seek relief at a nearby drug store. The wife followed thim, dressed only in her nightgown, still flourishing the bottle and shricking. She ran through Eighty-first street to Avenue A, thence to Eightieth street and started down toward the river, where she was intercepted and brought back to Eighty-first street and Avenue A. whence an ambulance was sum-

Her mouth was badly burned by th

acid and she cried:
'My poor baby! I've killed my bab; After she had been started away for the Presbyterian Hospital the neighbors, the Presbyterian Hospital the neighbors, who thought she might have killed her baby hy poisoning the milk, went up to go little flat. The three children were fast asleep. Care was taken, however, to empty all of the milk in the kitchen. Tomoor had his injuries dressed at the drug store and returned home. His face is frightfully burned and the doctors say it is remarkable that the poison did not destroy his eyesight.

Mrs. Tomoor, it was found at the hospital, did not swallow much of the poison and will recover. The couple have lived happily and the wife was much in love with her husband. She is undoubtedly insane.

Divorce Suit Post-His poned at His Own Request.

The divorce suit of Port Warden Rob-ert B. Miller against his wife, Emena Coopman Miller, was about to go on be-fore Justice McAdam, in the Supreme court this morning, when it was discovered that the plaintiff's chief witness was absent, and Lawyer George W. Stephens, for Mr. Miller, asked for an adjournment for a week. Lawyer A. H. Hummel, for Mrs. Mill-er, made a vigorous protest against the adjournment. Justice McAdum set off, dragging Quinn from the box.

The man was found later lying in a pool of blood and an ambulance summoned, whose surgeon said Quinn's fixell was fractured. The accident happened on Amboy Road, Eltingville, S. I.
